Baghdad Police raid suspected AIF residence

BAGHDAD, Iraq – Iraqi police raided a residence in the Adhamiya District suspected of harboring anti-Iraq forces June 2, according to a multinational forces report.

A team of officers from the Al Sheikh Police Station secured the area around the house and upon entry found no occupants. Following a brief search, police did find several AK-47 automatic rifles, mortar fuses, U.S. military issue M-4 magazines, magazine pouches, and a Humvee seat.

No injuries or damages were reported.
